IV. IMPACT ON INDIAN WOMEN'S

According to United Nation's Report "Women's are mor vulnerable to the effect of lockdown, They are poor and are more dependent for their livelihood"

The Indian women's not only face negative physical and psychological health issues due to the period of lockdown. The urban women's working women's middle class women's migrant women's suffered worldly to the period of lockdown. In the beed district of Maharashtra several women have no wombs, these women who looks as cane cutters are remain unemployed. The women which migrate every year from the marathwada region to sugarcane farmers, rice baddy farmers of western Maharashtra, fearing that from contractor wont hire them.

One of immediate impacts of the pandemic is the increased care responsibility on women the mass closer of schools and day care imputed both homemakers and women participating in the labour force. Women already bare a disoppourtinity burden of the care economy for example taking care of children's, homework of children's, Online classes of children's, elder mother, father, sasusare's or husband, milien, and other household duties, hospitality and other essential work for society.

A positive side impact that follow us on Twitter, Instagram, Facebook, YouTube in the know of women standing up, speaking up, homemade product, become a online employer, employees and start earning more flexible work from home with the help of educated women's. Data shows that over 100 millions women got their jobs mostly 39% of them earned and earning now with the help of online job centers [minimum 100 Rs a day]

V. CONCLUSION

In this research paper mainly focused on impact of lockdown on the Indian women's some points are there.

- 1) The economic and psychological impacts on women's household women's and Migrant women's have been Negativity affected.
- 2) The women without a stable income sources daily wages migrant women's are badly affected by the period of lockdown restrictions. Due to lack of job opening.
- 3) The Indian Govt. announced various package for financial relief had not made their way to a majority of the intended beneficiaries.
- 4) Little but work from home with face book or other mediator help them some earning [100rs a day] with the help of educate, business women's and online centers.

Shortly the duration of restriction on the movement of people and economic activity in major economics are not proper planned and executed by the authorities due to lack of implementation. The economic and psychological impact created by covid-19 lockdown will continue into long term which will in turn result unemployment, violence, social inequality and discrimination.
